

Cognizant

To whom it may concern

I have been working in Cognizant for five years now and have known Aishwarya personally since 2021. Aishwarya appeared to me as very enthusiastic, hardworking, and charming person. She is always eager to learn new things and very keen in taking initiatives. She also comes with high sense of self-motivation.

My first meet with Aishwarya was after she completed her training for project deployment. I found her sincere, disciplined and prompt in her actions. Aishwarya was a part of our team at Cognizant where she was working with team of 12 members for largest pharmaceutical client. She was proactive enough to get the required knowledge from seniors and soon started performing well in her area of interest. She possesses very fine interactive skills and maintains healthy relations with all the team members. She is always prepared to get engaged in challenging tasks. Along with the excellent communication skills, she is also very good at her technical skills which requires good hold of SQL and PL/SQL languages in Oracle ERP.

Aishwarya joined the team as 'Program Analyst Trainee' and soon with her perseverance and dedication got promoted to 'Program Analyst'. Despite being a engineer, she was firm and sharp enough to acquire the required IT language skills for her job role and have showcased excellent technical skills within short period of her deployment in the project. She has always been an active participant in all the team meetings and critical Issue discussion. She found out new methods for resolving many existing issues and received appreciation from clients. During her tenure, she not only performed on the individual level but also encouraged and trained her fellow teammates. She was dedicated for her work and never hesitated to work for long hours at critical times.

Having known her for two years now, I can assure that she has good ethics and moral values. She plays crucial role as a team player, comes with a high degree of self-motivation, and is strongly determined to accomplish her goals. Her performance as a responsible team member and her strong personality as an individual prompts me to highly recommend this young aspirant for any future endeavour.

Sincerely,
